Gentlemen:

In compliance with the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act of 1980, the United States Navy has conducted an Initial Assessment Study (IAS) on Navy property within Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, to identify and assess sites posing a potential threat to human health or to the environment due to contamination from past hazardous materials operations. The study is contained in three volumes which are enclosed herewith for your information.

Copies of these reports have been provided to the EPA Caribbean Office in San Juan, and to the Puerto Rico Environmental Quality Board.

Should you need additional information on this subject, please feel free to call my Staff Civil Engineer, LCDR James C. Traves, telephone (809) 865-2000, extensions 4204 or 4083.
