A 22-year-old woman has turned herself in to the California Highway Patrol in connection with a crash in the Altamont Pass on Saturday night that sent three members of a Tracy family to area hospitals.

Jackie Lynn Perez of Oakland called the CHP dispatch center Tuesday to turn herself in, said Officer Steve Creel. Perez drove to the Dublin office and was interviewed by officers and she was arrested about 11:30 p.m. on suspicion of felony hit and run.

Creel wouldn't give details as to what prompted Perez to call the CHP, but said the media attention and public interest in the crash played a major role.

The accident occurred about 10:30 p.m. Saturday on east-bound Interstate 580. A silver Toyota Echo rammed a pickup truck, sending it off the road, where it flipped several times, injuring a family of five.

The truck's driver, 28-year-old Jobalina Garcia of Tracy, was airlifted to John Muir Medical Center with critical injuries. Garcia's sons, aged 2 and 9, who were in the back seat of the 2006 Tacoma, were also critically injured and flown to Children's Hospital Oakland.

The 27-year-old father, Juan Magallon, and the couple's five-month-old son, were both in the front passenger seat and sustained "lesser injuries."

Witnesses said the Echo sped off after colliding with the pickup.

The CHP issued a statewide alert for the car, which possibly sustained front-end damage.

It was reported heading south on Highway 99 north of Modesto later Saturday night.

Perez is expected to be arraigned on a felony hit-and-run charge at the Pleasanton courthouse Thursday, Creel said.
