RANCHO SANTA MARGARITA — Homeowners association officials vowed Tuesday to move ahead with an appeal in a battle over how high trees can be.

A small-claims court commissioner last week awarded $5,000 to Michael and Gina McClure for damage to their Italian cypress trees. The homeowners association began in 1993 when the architectural committee adopted the 10-foot limit on privacy-barrier trees.

Leslie Martin, a spokeswoman for the association's property-management company, said other homeowners street cut back. Nonetheless, scapers in May cypresses to 10 iff's deputy c. Clures stopped Commission son ruled tha Amtrak is hoping Flexliners will catch on here.

Amtrak passengers can ride a Flexliner on several Los Angeles-to-San Diego runs through the end of July, except for Friday. Call 1-800-USARAIL (872-7245) for schedules and ticket prices.

Dominick Albano, a spokes-

Passengers in Fullerton said the only thing they didn't like about the train was its horn. Instead of the familiar deep hoot, the new train has a high-pitched bleat — a sound more apropos to a harbor than a train station.

"I guess it sounds Danish," said Franssen.
