Kings Bay tests begin this week

Groundwater sampling and analysis will be conducted starting this week at Kings Bay Naval Submarine Base.

The sampling is part of the Installation Restoration Program (IRP) being conducted at military bases nationwide. The IRP identifies and addresses conditions resulting from past operations that may not meet today's environmental standards.

Of particular interest is groundwater quality near the old Camden County landfill on the western portion of the base.

Results of investigations will be communicated to the public on an ongoing basis. Any questions about the upcoming investigations or the IRP should be directed to Bob Steller, deputy public affairs officer for Kings Bay, at 673-4714.
