Tim Hampton considers himself blessed seven and a half years after suffering competitors McElroy was 25th (9th American) in his age group with a time of 2:56:16 against 30 competitors.

"Everything came together that day. I did my homework with regards to training, nutrition and tapering. I don't have any regrets," said Forsyth, who finished 39th in the triathlon world championship in Australia last year.

"By not having the kind of race last year at the worlds and knowing what it feels like to represent your country, it kept me fired up to want to get back to compete for the USA this year. I didn't have the first-time jitters. The race course in Switzerland suited my abilities more. My goal was to finish 20th. I did."

McElroy, a retired estimating electrical contractor, said, "There's a whole different caliber of athletes I had not competed against. They are world-class triathlons. They share their riding techniques. The mountain come miles. Said it courses. My tire slows as I finish and not crash."

Although the water temperature was 66 degrees, she swam seven minutes faster than she did at the triathlon national championship. "I didn't want to go to the worlds and finish at run 'em down. "As long as I'm in the sport, I'm going to go to the national championship to see how I do. That's why I keep competing, to push myself to the next level."

es challenge and state win

TENNIS

2-1," Young said. "It went to 7-5 in the final set, but we beat them."

Now the challenge is playing out of the sectionals and into the nationals to be held Nov. 13-15 in Stone Mountain, Ga. Young thinks his team can handle the challenge.

The Macon tournament is for 6.5 to 10.5-rated teams. The rating, which each individual acquires from a local pro, is a system devised to make tournaments fair. Young's team is

Members of the team include Ann Young (Bobby's wife), Don and Kay Barcus, Gloria Thomas, Paul Fultz, Tom Ruland, Don Foster, Peggy Slate, Bonnie Johnson and Max Wade.

The team has practiced at the Wolbrecht Tennis Center, but because of work conflicts the sessions haven't been numerous. Still, members have played tennis for a while and the team does have a strategy.

"We've got some really good women on the team," said Fultz, a Bartlett resident

But winning isn't about. Travel is from work can't but it can also be winning has all events more enjoyable. "It's a big tournament still recreational said. "The main away with people fun weekend."

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Navy intends to transfer property and facilities comprising a portion of Naval Support Activity (NAVSUPPACT) Mid-South (formerly NAVSUPPACT Memphis) to the City of Millington. This property, previously a Naval Air Station, was used to support an airfield and aircraft maintenance needs for the Department of Defense. Currently, the Navy is undertaking certain environmental investigative and remedial activities at NAVSUPPACT Mid-South to address hazardous substance contamination on this property. A document called the Covenant Deferral Request (CDR) has been prepared which, if approved by the Governor of Tennessee, will allow the transfer to take place prior to the completion of remedial activities.

This draft document is available for public review. Copies may be viewed at the Shelby County Public Library (Millington Branch, 4858 Navy Road), NAVSUPPACT Mid-South (see Ms. Sue Hosmer Millican, Public Affairs Office, Building 455), and the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation Field Office in Memphis (see Mr. Jim Morrison, Suite E-645, Perimeter Park, 2510 ML Moriah).
