giving up four hits.

"I think that was the only extra base hit we had," Ryan said. An error and base hit off the bat of Blake Di Santo then put two runners on for San Mateo in the third. The squad plated one on a botched double play, and with two ducks still on the pond, Vanisi drove in both with a single as San Mateo took a 4-1 advantage.

"That stuff happens," Baroncini said. "But the best team always wins. And they won."

Still, Belmont did not lie down without a fight. In the sixth, Maurino scored shortstop Daniel Wendland. He did the deed with a double and later inched Belmont to within one when he scored on a wild pitch.

"The kids were playing hard," Baroncini said. "But we just came up short."

In its final at-bat, Belmont managed to place a runner on first with no outs. But in the end, Tuivailala retired the next three hitters to put the contest on ice.

"They are just a great team," Ryan said of Belmont. "We always root for them. ... Maybe they root for us, too."

San Mateo now contends with Palo Alto at 7 p.m. tonight for the title.

Palo Alto, which lost to its upcoming opponent in the District 6 final last season, snagged a 7-5 triumph over San Mateo to maintain a spot in the winners bracket. San Mateo, on the other hand, must win tonight and Thursday to claim the title.

"And they are probably still mad about last year," Ryan said.

San Mateo will showcase some new faces tonight, considering key players Tony Sanchez and Dean Ferrari were both missing in action Tuesday. They attended the MLB All-Star Game in San Francisco instead.

Boston Funk. "We were all fired up on the way back and talked about how we were going to win."

San Carlos defeated Alpine 12-4 to stay alive in the D-52 Tournament, which is hosted by San Mateo National Little League. San Carlos meets Half Moon Bay tonight at 5:30 p.m. and has to win to force an "if necessary" game Thursday night. Half Moon Bay, which tagged the first loss on Alpine on Monday, can win the championship today.

"Give San Carlos credit," Alpine manager Dave Denier said. "They were prepared for our pitching and did a good job of putting the ball in
